1. A military airfield was located about five miles northeast of KIELCE (R 51/U 73), near MASLOW (R 51/U 84). Old hangars were repaired and new hangars constructed.
2. Soviet aircraft, mostly twin-engine planes, frequently landed at the field. On some days more Soviet than Polish aircraft were stationed there.

Comment:

The existence of the field is known from World War II records. The field was apparently occupied by a Polish air unit in early 1948. No information has been received on the present occupation.
